20th Anniversary Of Selective Service

Selective Service commemorated 20 years of community activity as the nation's principal military manpower procurement agency on Friday, September 16th.

On that date two decades ago the nation's first peacetime draft law was signed by President Roosevelt. A month later on October 16th more than 16 million youths registered in every community throughout the nation.

The first contingent of more than 50 million to be registered during World War II when 16.5 million served in the armed forces.

"The 20th anniversary observance provided an opportunity for honoring the patriotic public service of our volunteer local board personnel and for appreciation of the public's home town support of draft operations over the past two decades," according to Colonel Arthur A. Holmes, Michigan Selective Service director.

Currently more than 1,000 Michigan citizens operate the state's 119 draft boards without compensation. Over the years since 1940 more than 10,000 community leaders have served in local draft operations.

Twenty-year veterans who have served the Michigan system without compensation since 1940 total 138. This honor roll includes 34 local board members, 31 government appeal agents and 123 medical advisors.

Locally Charles E. Moore has served as a board member continuously since 1940 and Dr. Clarence G. Clippert has served since 1940 continuously as the local board's medical advisor.

Congratulations To County Bond Owners

Crawford County residents were congratulated today for their part in swelling U.S. Savings Bond ownership to a new all-time high.
Paul Carnahan, volunteer State county chairman for the bond program in Michigan, said that nationwide holdings of Series E and F Savings Bonds stood at $42.8 billion as of August 31, according to official word sent to him from the Treasury Department in Washington. Of this total, Michigan residents own about $2,411,600,000, and Mr. Carnahan estimated Crawford county's share of the total at approximately $675,130.

The report to Mr. Carnahan came in the form of a congratulatory letter from William H. Neal, Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and National Director of the Savings Bonds program in Michigan. Neal said that the new $42.8 billion total tops the World War II peak of E Bond holdings by some $12 billion, pointing out the steady growth which has characterized the bond program throughout the peacetime years since 1945.

"These statistical facts, however, are a comparatively minor part of the story," Mr. Neal told Mr. Carnahan. "Of vastly greater importance are the accomplishments of millions of families in making dreams come true through systematic savings, and the private contribution of Savings Bond volunteers like you in making our program not alone successful, but even possible."

"I know I speak for Secretary
Anderson and Under Secretary Baird in expressing the Treasury's congratulations and thanks for your part in this newest Savings Bonds achievement," Mr.
Carnahan said. "That one of every four Crawford county residents is a bond owner—the national average."

It Can Be Done . . .

"Is it too late to win against Communism?"

That enormously potent question is the title of the lead article in the September issue of The Reader's Digest. And the article is condensed from an address made by a true authority—Dr. Charles Malik, former President of the United Nations General Assembly.

Dr. Malik begins by briefly citing what Communism has accomplished. It started from zero only 43 years ago, and now controls one third of the earth's people. It has a superb political organization, skilled to the limit in the techniques of penetration and subversion. Its home country, the Soviet Union, is the second most industrially advanced state in the world. It had no nuclear weapons 10 or 15 years ago—now it has them in abundance. It is always on the offensive, whereas the West is "always on the defensive, always reacting." It has been more effective in presenting its ideology to Asian and African minds than has the West.

So it goes, down a list of Communist triumphs of one kind or another, and a list of Western defeats or losses. In each instance, Dr. Malik asks if all this was inevitable, and if the West was powerless to prevent it. And here he makes a striking statement: "If you believe that they were inevitable—that all these developments could not have been helped—then you are already a Marxist."

It is his position that none of the events he describes were inevitable—that all of them could have been prevented or reversed, had the West had the courage, determination and decisiveness to act. And he is equally convinced that we can learn from our errors and weaknesses and, in the immediate future, reverse the trend of the immediate past.

Specifically, he states: "Four conditions are absolutely sine qua non: unity among the Western allies; winning the technological competition, especially in armaments; winning the economic competition; deeper understanding and statesmanlike assistance toward the peoples of Asia and Africa." A little later he adds: "There is no doubt whatsoever that, by any standards of measurement, the material and human resources of North and South America, of Western Europe, of Japan, of Australia, and of as much of Africa and Asia as may be persuaded to cooperate, can be so marshaled and coordinated as to outdo the Communist domain, in any field of human endeavor, by a ratio of at least five to one."

In pursuing this great goal, on which the whole fate of civilization as we understand it may depend, Dr. Malik points out that we must be firm at all costs. But we must do more than just hold the line. The policy of containment, as he sees it, was a necessary first step, but it is nowhere near sufficient now. Our policy should be based on eventual liberation of the peoples Communism has enslaved—in Russia herself, as well as in Eastern Europe and China. And in doing that, we must make a radical distinction between peoples and the Communist governments which rule them.

There is much, much more to this than material force and power. The great values in the struggle, as Dr. Malik assesses them, are spiritual. To quote him once more, "A civilization is doomed if it is not creatively conscious of something universal and human it can and must give." The Free World, he is convinced, can make the great gift of freedom to all the world, along with vast material advancement as well, if it only has the courage, the resolution, the dedication.

Grayling's Tourist Park has been very much improved this summer. This property was purchased from the Connine estate after having been used for many years without cost. This is a beautiful wooded plot of about 40 acres in area, located at the east end of Michigan Avenue. The East Branch River passes through the grounds. A new well has been added, the water from which has stood the rigid test and was given full approval by the state department of health. The park is nicely lighted and there are plenty of electrical outlets for use if tourists desire electricity for lighting their trailers and for other uses. A charge of 25c per day or $1.00 per week is made for the electricity. The park is well-fitted practically every night and is becoming one of the most popular tourist parks in Michigan. No charge is made at this time for use of the park.

Announcement of the sale of the Mrs. Henry Stephan resort property on the AuSable River has been made. John Braun, manager of the Grayling State Savings Bank, is the new owner. This property has been owned by the Stephan family for over 40 years and was the first permanent river resort to be established on this famous river. It is located on the north side of the Stephan bridge. Mrs. Stephan has also sold her property at the corner north of the bridge to her nephew, John Stephan. She has in turn purchased the Tom Wells place in Grayling where she intends eventually to reside.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. and the theme for the day is "Leading the Way". A film, "A Place to Go" on medical missions will be shown and the speaker will be the Rev. Walter Pieper of Tawas City. All interested women are invited to attend.

September 15th is the birthday of Jennifer Lee Stahrylla who weighed six pounds and fourteen ounces when she arrived in her happy parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stahrylla (Janie Hildebrand) of Canoga Park, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stahrylla of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hildebrand of East Lansing are the young lady's grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson left Sunday and spent a few days in Grand Rapids on business. Mickey and Bob Strong of Mt. Pleasant spent the week end with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Piper were guests of the Marvin Hahns of Detroit at Indian River Sunday.

The Carl E. Johnson home on the AuSable has been a busy place the past two weeks. Among the guests were his brothers, Judge Victor Johnson of Duluth, Minn., and August Johnson of Appleton, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hoffman and Mrs. Mary Beach all of Grand Rapids, Miss Grace Beraumen of Denver, Colorado, Mrs. Harry Rogers of Mt. Clemens, a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Altun Crane of Adrian and Mr. Johnson's sister Mr. and Mrs. Walford Danielson of Norway, their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Peterson of Wisconsin, and Miss Ida Rudolph and Mrs. Minnie Neushafer of Higgins Lake.

The last of the summer guests at the Longdyke Hideout departed shortly before the Labor Day weekend. Mrs. L. Joanne and Dorcen were at Grayling to see the canoe race start and followed the race for 4 bridges, going back to their cabin after the last canoe had paddled under the Paradise bridge. The problem of "no gas" arose and had the Palmalee station been open the gas could have continued on to Mio — better luck next year. Sunday Mrs. L. took the girls to Mackinac Island. Dorcen enjoyed most the horse and buggy ride. Mrs. L. was so relaxed in the rear seat she failed to see their lunch roll from the buggy. The return ferry trip was rougher than rough, so rough the boat had to dock at the end of the pier and passengers were taken off the top deck via gangplank. The Hideout occupants have returned to their city home, Mrs. L. to the old grind, she says, and the girls to school.

Mrs. L. left with high hopes of returning soon to her cabin for a couple of days of real peace and quiet which she always fails to get during the busy summer.

Mrs. C. R. Keyport, Mrs. Anne Dobbyn and Mrs. Robert Hayes entertained a group of friends with a luncheon at Camp Shoppington on Wednesday last.

Orlin Lucksted returned to the University of Michigan on Monday of last week to do graduate work.

Ronald San-Carlos has entered CMU at Mt. Pleasant for his sophomore year.
